MISSION OCEAN

FROM WASTE TO WONDER

JANE PERKINS

„I am shocked by the amount we throw away on our beautiful blue planet. We all have a responsibility to preserve the earth for future generations.

My work is made from the mass of superfluous things which almost suffocates us. I use anything of the right size, shape or colour: toys, shells, buttons, beads, jewellery, curtain hooks, springs etc. No colour is added - everything is used exactly 'as found'. Every single object on the finished picture has its own little story to tell.

From childhood, I have always enjoyed being creative; drawing and embroidery mainly. After a career as a nurse and some years as a full-time Mum, I took a degree in Textiles, graduating in 2006. During my degree course, I discovered a passion for working with recycled materials.

I started making portraits of well-known people and then added Plastic Classics, famous works of Art, given a contemporary twist. More recently, I have been making animal faces. My works need to be viewed in two ways: from a distance to make sense of the whole image, and close up to identify the materials used.

I love art with an element of fun and the unexpected, and I hope my work will make you smile!

- YOURS SINCERELY, JANE

SCOPE OF SERVICES

INTERACTIVE KNOWLEDGE QUIZ

AWARENESS RAISING

PLASTIC WASTE IN THE SEA

Areas for active awareness raising include:

3D-PHOTOPOINT (approx. 4x4 m)

Strike a pose and make a selfie at the 3D-photopoint. You will get a souvenir photo with a cool effect that will make you think about this important topic even further.

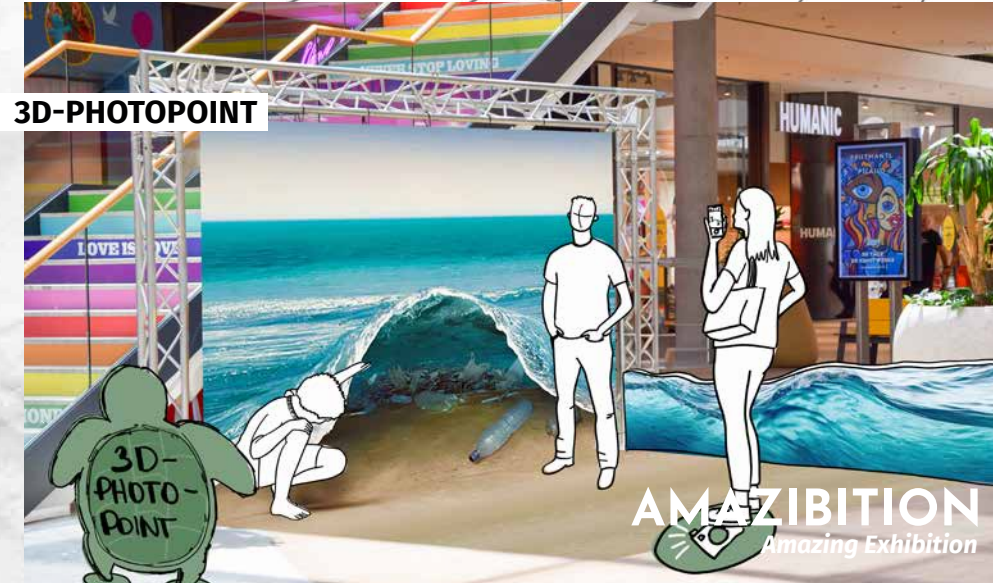

STAGING "PLASTIC WASTE IN THE SEA" (approx. 4x3 m)

Visitors will find eye-opening facts on the topic of plastic waste in the world's oceans presented in a striking way. The installation illustrates the plastic waste amount of each European/year (illustrated with the hanging garbage bags) and also deals with the 5 most endangered creatures in and around the sea due to plastic waste.

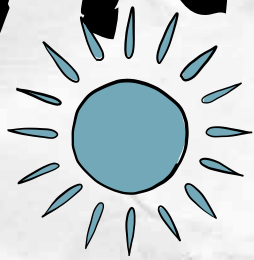

INTERACTIVE KNOWLEDGE QUIZ (approx. 2x3 m)

Visitors can prove their knowledge on the topic on a digital steel (decorated as a trash-bag) and can learn, how everyone can personally contribute to waste prevention.

Sizes of the described areas can be adopted to the individual needs of each mall.
